OREM — A new queen was crowned at Utah Valley Community College Thursday after an evening of talent and gown competitions.

Sherie North, Heber City, was crowned Miss UVCC for the 1989-90 school year. North is the daughter of Dr. James and Loral North. North plans to major in biology and teach high school. She has extensive vocal training and entertained on a cruise ship in Ensenada, Mexico. She sang a solo in the talent competition.

The first runner-up was Melanie Watson, a daughter of E. Kay and Sharilyn Watson of Provo. She plans to major in communications, is involved in UVCC's Student Council and has represented the school at state and national business conventions. Watson has also received state honors at the "Make it with Wool" competition. She sang a solo for the talent portion.

"This pageant showcases some of the brightest, loveliest and most talented young women in Utah Valley," said Ann Richardson, coordinator of Student Center activities and pageant director. Six women competed for the honor.
